WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. - Applications washington, Oct. 39.—Applications have been made to the treasury department by the importers who had tobacco in bonded warehouses prior to the passage of the act of Oct. 1, 1800, for permission to withdraw the same at the weights ascerwithdraw the same at the weights ascertained at the time of said withdrawal. These applications are based on the second proviso of section 50 of the tariff act, which pre-cribes that "when duties are based on the weight of merchandise deposited in any public or private bonded warehouse, said duties shall be levied and collected upon the weight of such merchandise at the time of its withdrawal." Assistant Secretary Spaniding says that after a careful consideration of the matter, the department is of the opinion that such applications caunot be granted.

CUBAN RECIPROCITY.

CUBAN RECIPROCITY.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The department of state has received a copy of the minutes of the debates which have recently taken place in the clamber of commerce of Havana, with reference to the McKinley bill, and the question of reciprocity. This statement, which was transmitted to the Spanish minister of the colonies, was accompanied by a letter from Segundo Avaleres, and Saturaino Martinez, secretary general of the chamber, which shows the existence of a strong sentiment favorable to reciprocal relations with the United States. The writers further say that the new Cuban tariff proposed by Spain must be preceded by the repeal of the act of 1882, because that act creates insuperable obstacles to the development of the foreign commerce of Cuba, which is indispensable to the encouragement of the cultivation of its products. The opinion of all Cubans is that this law, which interferes with their trade, should be replaced; with equal roanimity, the writers add, it is con-pilered that the greatest market for Cuben goods is the nation whose ports lie at its very door. The chamber of commerce, they say, does not hesitate to affirm that the United States are today the regulators of the economical market, just as England is of the money market.

The lawmakers of the United States,

The inversal of the United States, they further say, know perfectly weil that the people whom they represent have an manufactor of the necessaries of life. They know that by imposing heavy duties on the manufactured goods of Europe they favor the development of their own industries, comped the well-to-do classes to pay indirect taxes, and that they have no come to fear formers remissly because cause to fear European reprisals, because such reprisals would have to apply to ceroals ment, petroleum, etc. which are the very articles that those nations absolutely require.

The United States care but little for The United States care but little for reciprocity with Europe, for they know that Europe has need of them; and they will grant it or retuse it as may suit their own interests. They care a great deal, however, for reciprocity with the nations of America, and are seeking to establish it. They want sugars of low grades for their refueries, also codies, hides and timber, and they think they can get them by reciprocity. Attention is then called to the fact that Brazil is trying to secure the fact that Brazil is trying to secure the market of the United States for its sugar and to the additional fact that the govern ment is encouraging sugar production by by a large loan to planters. The manner in which Brazil wrested from Cula the paim of being the chief coffee producer is alluded to, and a warning is sounded that the same thing may happen with regard

MULLETT'S SUICIDE.

Washington, Oct. 20.—A. B. Mullett, a well known architect, and for many years supervising architect of the treasury desupervising architect of the treasury department, shot himself this evening at his residence. He had been in poor health for a long time, suffering from rheumatism and other complaints, but it is thought that financial trouble was the cause of Mr. Mullett's act. He died in a few minutes. When the doctor first entered the room it was filled with smoke from the discharged pistol, and he found Mrs. Mullett lying by the side of her wounded husband, weeping bitterly, with her arms thrown around his neck. The doctor moved her gently from the room and then gave his attention to her husband.

It appears that Mrs. Mullett and her husband went up stairs to his bed-chamber and he prepared to retire. Mrs. Mullett went dewn stairs to obtain some beef broth for him, and it was during his absence that the fatal shot was fired.

sence that the fatal shot was fired.

Later in the evening the coroner was summoned, and, after an examination of the body, gave a verdict of death from suicide, due to melancholy. The remains of Mr. Mullett will probably be taken to Cincinnati for interment. The funeral arrangements, however, will not be settled definitely until Mrs, Mullett hears from a brother of Mr. Mullett, who is at present at Kansas City.

from a brother of Mr. Mullett, who is at present at Kansas City.

Mr. Mullett was 56 years old and was very well known all over the country. He designed many of the public buildings that have been erected in different cities, among them being the New York City postoffice and the imposing state, war and navy departments buildings in this city. Since his retirement from the office of supervising architect of the treasury, Mr. Mullett had devoted most of his time to professional business in Washington.

Mr. Mullett leaves a family of five children, four of whom are in Washington, and one in Kansas City. His mother, two dren, four of whom are in Washington, and one in Kansas City. His mother, two brothers and two sisters, also reside in Kansas City. Mr. Mullett had a severe case of the grip last winter, from which he still suffered. For the past few months he has been at times gloomy and despondent. He had built several houses recently that he could not dispose of, and this preyed on his mind. Mrs. Mullett is completely prostrated by the severe shock and is under

INDIANS DYING.

Outside New York

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 20.—The Tri-bune's Pierre, Dak., correspondent says. A physician living at Fort Pierre, yester-day, returned from a visit to a hand of Indians, some twenty-five miles from there, whither he was summoned by a squaw man, who informed him that the entire band, of 200, would all die off miless something was done for them. Thirteen have already died, and many of them are down

New Orleans, Oct. 20—The police last night arrested forty odd Italians at the grocery of Carlo Graffiro, corner of Bur-gundy and Conti streets. The officers noticed a large number of Italians drops ping into the place in twos and threes, and believing that something was wrong, forced their way in and found a man aidressing the crowd present in Italian. Charging that it was an unlawful assembly, all persons present were arrested and carried to the jail. When they were brought to the station it was discovered that not one of them had a cent or a home of any kind, and that the entire party had arrived here yesterday from Chicago, and had been toid to meet at Graffiro's place. As the men could give no explanation of them selves or why they came to New Orleans or met at the grocery, they were locked up at the police station, charged with being dangerous and suspicious characters. The ping into the place in twos and threes, and dangerous and suspicious characters. The polloe also arrested Manuel Pietro, whom they charge not only with being one of the men engaged in the Hennessey assassination, but actually the man who fired the fatal shot. They claim that they have the case in excellent condition; that the murderers have been arrested, and that there is sufficient evidence to convict them. Tony Martregana and Vinceo Caruso, who were arrested a few days ago and re-leased, were arrested again today and committed to the parish prison, charged with being accessories to the assassination of Chief of Police Hennessey. The police and detectives appear to be doing excellent work in ferreting out the perpetrators of the terrible deed. As each day passes additional information is being obtained that it is hoped will convect those already in the grasp of the law, and several others who will be arrested later on. From what can be learned, there is hardly any doubt that the five men who committed the crime and the villianous brains that gave birth to the foul plot, are among those who are new in jail. One or two more of the conspirators are still at large, but it is only a question of time before they too will be behind the bars; and it is safe to say that when the trial comes up the police will be able to produce sufficient information to send the entire gang to the gallows. Pietro, one of the suspects, was identified today by a colorest woman, who saw him last Monday receive two guns from two other Sicilians. Joe Machea has been still further identified as a constant visitor to the cobbler shop which he rented and placed diastro in—ostensibly to follow his occupation, but in reality to watch the movements of Hennessey. The conclusion generally arrived at is that the assassination was inspired by the Machea-Mattrerime and the villianous brains that gave DECATUB, Ind., Oct. 20.—The most remarkable accident that has ever been known to occur in this part of the country was that which happened one week ago to Freddie, the 3-year-old son of James Niblick, a prominent business man of this city. Freddie and his rider brother. Charley, aged 5 years, were left in a room to amuse themselves while the mother was at work in another part of the house. The children discovered a 38-calibre revolver which had been left within easy access, and in playing with the weapon it access, and in playing with the weapon it had been accidentally discharged while in the hands of the elder brother, the ball entering the forehead of Freddy just above the left eye, passing out at the back part of the head, thus ploughing through the brain.

of the head, thus ploughing through the brain.

The wound, which was a ghasty-looking one, was considered fatal and everyone expected the little sufferer would survive but a few moments, but strange as it may seem, in a few days he railied from the shock, and is now considered on a fair way to recovery, being able to take nourishment and to make his wants known. The physicians inserted a silver probe into the opening until the instrument passed entirely through the child's head, after which a perforated drainage tube was introduced, following the course of the ball. This tube was allowed to remain in the child's head, so that the pus accumulating in the wound can be discharged through it.

The idea of a child living with an open cavity in its brain seems almost incredible, yet it is nevertheless true. The case is attracting great interest, and in all it seems to be the most miraculous escape from death on record.
